Every parent, husband and wife wants to build a family legacy to support his/her children for the future. For Christians, it is also being good stewards of money that is pleasing to God most of all. Developing a strategy for finances, however, is not an easy task to achieve. Author Joseph Sturniolo offers help with The Master's Plan, a educational handbook to establish a family plan of finance and also encourage readers to be more transparent with family about future goals and their pasts. To begin the book, Joseph discusses God's design for parents and the importance of instilling in the family the need to live life God's way. The introduction of the Master's Plan is presented: following a five-phase process of Vision, Clarify, Focus, Implementation and Impact. The hope is for readers to see they were created to seek God and allow Him to shape their legacies in Jesus.
