Stories are the food of the mind and heart and in time they form who we are. This is a collection of the kind of personal stories I would tell you if we spent a long time together sharing each other's life experiences. Growing up in Minneapolis with a Swedish heritage, enduring the revolutionary sixties, struggling to find a place in the world, looking for meaning, finding joy, finding trouble, falling in love. These are the experiences that shaped me and many of my generation. Maybe you see reflections of your own self in these stories. Perhaps you grew up in the same place or time. Maybe you struggled with the same philosophical issues. In reading these stories, I hope you will learn more about yourself than you do about me. --The Author
