Donald Stanton is the son of a renowned Oxford history professor, and following in his father's footsteps, makes an archaeological discovery of his own that will haunt him for the remainder of his life. In a sealed chamber, Donald recovers an artifact, not from the past, but from the future. In the years that follow, Donald tries to unravel the mystery of his discovery, only to learn that others also have a vested interest in him and what he has found. When an unexpected link between the artifact and a training flight that disappeared in the infamous Bermuda Triangle is uncovered, suddenly the pieces begin to fall into place and the race to discover a lost ancient secret begins. A race through history that will lead the victor to the realm of the Gods.
